Encl: (1) NAVMED Form 6120/1 (Rev 1-82)

1. Purpose. To provide direction concerning competence for duty examinations for active duty personnel as outlined in references (a) and (b).

2. Background

- a. Competence for duty of persons in the uniformed services is defined as the ability to perform competently the duties which the individual normally would be assigned. In cases involving possible intoxication, drug addiction, drug abuse or adverse reaction to medication and other unusual circumstances, there is a need to know if the individual concerned can exercise sound and full mental and physical abilities, is capable of performing assigned tasks, or poses a danger to self or others. When properly completed, enclosure (1) provides information designed to assist in determining an individual's competence for duty.
- b. Bodily views and intrusions, including seizures of bodily fluids for the purpose of gathering evidence, are governed by Rule 312 of reference (c), which shall be carefully reviewed prior to any intrusion or seizure. A search authorization issued under Rule 315 of reference (c) shall be based upon probable cause. Reference (d) provides guidance for searches and seizures.
- 3. Applicability. This instruction applies to all uniformed services personnel assigned to the Naval School of Health Sciences (NSHS), Bethesda, Maryland. Echelon V Detachments will establish similar guidelines in consonance with the guidance contained in this directive and related directives issued by higher authority.

4. Policy

a. A competence for duty examination is appropriate to determine if a member is able to safely perform his or her duty or to ensure the member receives proper medical care.

OCT 6 1994

- b. A competence for duty examination may not be used for disciplinary action against an active duty member.
- c. Evaluations for sobriety and other substances must be carefully made. In instances requiring samples of body fluids for therapeutic purposes, such samples may be drawn and may be used both for medical and appropriate evidential purposes. The Staff Judge Advocate's Office or the Military Justice Office will provide assistance in determining the most appropriate method to obtain evidence for use in disciplinary proceedings.
- d. Competence for Duty Examinations may be ordered by the Commanding Officer, the Executive Officer, Directors or the Command Duty Officer (CDO).

5. Action

- a. Directors and CDO watch standers are responsible for knowledge of and compliance with this instruction when requesting a competence for duty examination.
- b. The official requesting the competence for duty examination shall provide a competent staff member as escort to deliver the person to be examined, along with the completed NAVMED Form 6120/1, to the Emergency Room, National Naval Medical Center (NNMC), Bethesda. The escort is to remain with the examinee until the examination is completed.
- c. The official requesting a competence for duty examination is responsible for contacting the NSHS Chief Master at Arms (CMAA) to inform him or her that an examination has been ordered.
- d. The NSHS CMAA is responsible for keeping the Commanding Officer and Executive Officer informed as to the status of the examination.

6. Procedures

- a. Enclosure (1) will be used by the requesting official when requesting competence for duty examinations. The form shall be completed in accordance with the instructions on the form and reference (b).
- b. Competence for duty examinations will be requested through the Emergency Room, NNMC, Bethesda.

c. Upon completion of the competence for duty examination, the NAVMED Form 6120/1 will be reviewed by the requesting official then forwarded to the NSHS CMAA for retention.
